COMMUNICATION.

THERE is no poſition in political affairs that may be better defended than this principal, That the ſpirit of liberty will not exiſt, if there is a defect of operative virtue in the people. After the emancipation of our country from G. Britain, the American people were perhaps as virtuous as any nation upon the globe. The rational ſpirit of liberty exiſted in their hearts; yet they wanted ſome centre of union for the different republics of which they were compoſed to unite in. A conſtitution, as neceſſary to prevent their liberty from degenerating into licentiouſneſs, to connect their different intereſts, and defend their mutual rights. For the want of this combining and conſervatory power, the American States ſuffered the ill effects of partial anarchy. But the ſolid worth, and patriotiſm, that bore us ſo triumphantly through one revolution of government, ſaw a neceſſity for another; and knowing the generous temper of the people, that they would not be drove, even to their own good, yet might be led by the hand of wiſdom to any thing, they patiently acquieſced in their temporary diſtreſſes, with the hope that their ſufferings would at length bring about a reformative temper, and induce them to embrace a healthy and happier form of government: this important moment arrived, and was at length ſeized on; and after a conſiderable ſtruggle with political theoriſts, the Federal Conſtitution was happily eſtabliſhed,—a government calculated for a virtuous people, and whoſe ſtrength muſt be ſupported by public opinion. The theoriſts produced a faction, called Antifederaliſts; who, as they ſaw they could not lead the public mind, reſolved to bewilder it; and whenever they could deceive in the elections of the people, creatures of their ſtamp became legiſlators, and weakened the public councils with falſe reaſonings and diviſions. Thanks to the cool heads, better ſenſe, and penetration, of the American people, that we were not ſlaves to the paſſions, as were the people of France! There, one revolution tore up the foundations of ſociety—revolution followed revolution, and toſt the public mind to fluctuate upon the tumultuous waves of confuſion. The American people, tho' ſometimes led aſtray by the prompt ſophiſms of the Antifederaliſts, yet eventually ſettled down in the orderly path of reaſon; and, with men of wiſdom and integrity at the head of affairs, they increaſed in wealth and happineſs, and excited the envy of other nations. At length the apoſtles of the French revolution came upon regenerating miſſions into our happy country, when our countrymen, ſeduced by the ſacred name of liberty, ſuppoſing it to be the ſame with them as with us, tho' in fact what they called liberty in France was an infamous compound of brutal power and licentiouſneſs—yet her foul votaries were reſpected, and they were ſuffered to patchwork the tattered garments of antifederaliſm, from whence ſprung the faction, under a new garb, of the Jacobins, under whoſe intoxicating influence the American citizens at one period bid fair to loſe their morals, and the love of real liberty. Then, we were differently ſituated from what we were when the Federal Conſtitution was adopted. At that time Europe was at peace, and we had nothing to do with their domeſtic affairs: our duty was to mind our own concerns, and conſult the public happineſs. But now the times had changed. The French, Pruſſians and Auſtrians had gone to war, and England ſoon after took an active part againſt the French. Our intereſts were not immediately involved; indeed it ſeemed to be at firſt a war produced by the militancy of opinions, rather than any actual aggreſſion that had been committed by either party, but threatening in its progreſs a diſſolution of the ties of all civil ſociety, and a horrid deſtruction of the human race. Thus ſituated, it became our anxiety to ſteer clear of the whirlpool of European politics, and for the ſake of humanity, and our deareſt intereſts, to take a neutral part. The wiſe and patriotic adminiſtrators of our government did not heſitate, and the Preſident iſſued his proclamation of neutrality. Then was diſcovered the effect of the combination of antifederal with jacobin principles, in the baſe intrigues of this two headed faction againſt the Federal Government—their inceſſant diſturbance of its wholeſome operations—their vile calumnies againſt its adminiſtrators—and, where they could not fix a ſtain upon their characters, they would detract from their merits; deſtroying by degrees the confidence of the people, poiſoning their morals with French philters, and turning the charity of their diſpoſitions into the devil-like temper of hatred to all other governments and nations that were were not French. X.

ANECDOTE.

A CERTAIN biſhop was once engaged in his nocturnal lucubrations at a late hour in the evening, when hearing a noiſe at the window of his ſtudy, he looked about and ſaw a man.—The biſhop ſaid, "who is there?" the man replied Apoſtolus Domini, (i. e. an Apoſtle of the Lord.) The Biſhop inſtantly graſped his piſtol, and ſaying Recipe Spiruum Sanctum, (i. e. Receive the holy ſpirit,) fired him dead on the ſpot—The man was found to have been a noted Robber.

ALBANY May 21.

The evidences of an exiſting Jacobin faction in the boſom of our country have long been too prominently exhibited to eſcape attention: if there exiſts a claſs by whom they have been unnoticed, that claſs is compoſed of characters alike indifferent to our proſperity and glory, or our degradation and infamy. Weak, but well meaning men, have recoiled from the belief that America cheriſhes parricides who ſtand ready to light the torch which may conſume her honors, and mingle the aſhes of her independence with thoſe of other republics, which have exiſted, flouriſhed and expired. That charity which has been indulged towards a faction hoſtile to the meaſures of the exiſting government, will if perſevered in, be the ſource of calamities which no after energy can avert, which no plans of prudence or wiſdom can control. Fallacious is the idea that, becauſe men poſſeſs extenſive property, and have families and connections which ſhould render dear to them a ſtate of order, an attachment to their country and a well regulated government, will always of courſe follow: the villian who preſents a piſtol to the breaſt of his fellow man, and demands his purſe, or who ruſhes unawares upon the traveller, and robs him of his life and property, is ever flattered by the idea that he ſhall eſcape the arm of juſtice, and reval on the fruit of his crimes: the ambitious diſorganizer and the unprincipled demagogue, are buoyed up by the hope that they ſhall riſe amidſt ruin, and climb to eminence upon the wrecks of the State.

But there is another claſs of men, who aſpire to preferment, through any path which chance, or their own inventions, may provide: it is compoſed of ſuch as are deſperate in their pecuniary circumſtances, and poſſeſſing a pride which pants for the enjoyment of ſplendor, and official honors, without the honeſt means of gratifying the former, and deſtitute of that conſiſteney and integrity of conduct which can attain the latter. Such men readily league themſelves with all diſappointed office hunters, and give the full rein to depravity for the purpoſe of accompliſhing their objects. The good ſenſe of the community may diſcern the nefarious plans in agitation, to ſacrifice the public weal to private, villainous views—and that good ſenſe may command unprincipled demagogues to retire to the private walks from which accident, or the neglect of the people relative to their beſt intereſts, may have too unfortunately permitted them for a moment to emerge. But the public vigilance ſhould not ſlacken too ſuddenly; the friends to a free, repreſentative Government, ſhould ever be watchful.

'Tis not enough that daring demagogues are excluded from poſts of truſt and honour: their views and objects would never be loſt ſight of—but ſhould afford themes of continual caution and warning to the public: failing in the more artful meaſures of ſapping the confidence of the people in the government, by a miſrepreſentation of its meaſure, and a ſhameful abuſe of its adminiſtrators, they may, and probaly will, as a dernier reſort, excite civil commotions in the country, to obtain by violence and blood, what art and intrigue have failed to effect. Already, in partial inſtances have operations of this kind been ſet on foot: and one of the principals of the oppoſition has been heard recently to declare, that before the expiration of three years, a civil war in this country would be inevitable—The only remedies which can be provided againſt ſuch an evil is to clothe with power thoſe alone who are friendly to the Government—and for the people conſtantly to be upon the watch. While the Government is adminiſterd with juſtice and neceſſary energy; and is ſupported by public confidence, and deciſive manifeſtations of the will of the great majority to defend it, all will be well—Traitors high and low will ſhrink from their open attempts to demoliſh ſo ſtrong a bulwark: but if ſupineneſs and inattention prevail, advantage will accrue to our internal enemies, who may eventually take meſures to verify their predictions—by openly brandiſhing the dagger of civil diſcord, and ſucceſsfully undermining the pillars of National and State authority.

RICHMOND, May 7.

The democrats are eternally railing at the federaliſts about ingratitude—we would aſk whether there can be a ſtronger evidence of ingratitude than the inveteracy they ſhow to Gen. Marſhall? The French tell us they fought our battles, and gained for us our independence and liberty; and pray let us aſk who was he that co-operated with them? John Marſhall.

But what particularly characteriſes their ingratitude is, that Gen. Marſhall is the free born ſon of an American, and who after having borne the toil of furious war, in his country's cauſe, continued to be, and is now the ready avenger and firm ſupporter of her rights—Out upon it, fye! it ſmells rank to heaven.

It may be obſerved as a proof of federaliſm gaining ground, that we do not hear of a ſingle affray having happened at any one place of election throughout the whole ſtate. Moderation and temperance, characteriſtics of federaliſts, have generally prevailed.

It is an eſtabliſhed maxim that TRUTH is progreſſive—we cannot ſay at what fixed ratio—but at the ſmalleſt calculation, we think it may be allowed, that if we have one hundred and nine majority in its favor this year, we ſhall have 218 at the next election.

A perſon expreſſing ſome ſurpriſe in company the other day, about the ſilence of the democrats on their election—another who ſat near him, replied, "you will ceaſe to wonder when you learn they are chop-fallen."

It is really piteous to ſee them—their chins hanging on their breaſts—and their countenances depicted with fear and terror—Every man they meet is to their apprehenſions an inquiſitor or a baillie with a cettre de cacket.

LONDON, March 13.

The following is a Copy of the Treaty which was made between General Championnet, and Prince Pignatelli:

"Armiſtice concluded between General Championnet, Commander in Chief of the Army of Rome, on one part, and M. Prince de Miliano, and the Duke de Geſſo, Plenipotentiaries of the Captain General Pignatelli, Viceroy of the kingdom of Naples, on the other part.

Art. 1. The city of Capua, in its preſent ſtate, with the magazine of all ſorts, ſhall be given up to-morrow morning at ten o'clock, to the French army. It is to be underſtood, that the artillery and ammunition which may have been taken out for the intrenched camp, ſhall be returned. A French officer and commiſſary of war ſhall enter the town this evening to verify the ſtate of the magazines, and to receive them.

2. The French army having its right upon the Mediterranean, ſhall occupy the Right Bank of the Mouth of the Neapolitan Lakes, Acerra, and the Road from Naples which paſſes through Acerra, Azienzo and Benevente, and ſhall keep Garriſons in all the towns and villages of this country.

3. The Line of Demarcation ſhall extend from Benevente to the Mouths of the Olanto (beyond the Gulph of Moſtredonia, in the Adriatic Sea), taking the left bank of that river, and the right bank of the Lombardo.

4. The Neapolitan Troops which may be upon the Roman territory ſhall immediately evacuate it.

5. The ports of the two Sicillies ſhall be declared neutral; thoſe of the kingdom of Naples immediately after the ſigning of the Act, and thoſe of Sicily as ſoon as the King of Naples ſhall have ſent from Palermo an Ambaſſador to Paris, to treat for Peace. Conſequently, no Neapolitan ſhips of war ſhall ſail from any of the ports of the two kingdoms, nor ſhall any of the ſhips belonging to the powers at war with the French Republic be received therein, and all the ſhips belonging to theſe powers who may be there at this moment, ſhall be immediately ſent away.

6. During the continuance of the Armiſtice, no change ſhall be made in the adminiſtrative authorities of the countries occupied by the French.

7. No individual ſhall be troubled on account of his political principles.

8. The King of the Two Sicilies ſhall pay to the French Republic, ten millions of livres, tournois; five millions to be paid upon the 26th Nivoſe of the preſent month, correſponding with the 15th January, 1799, and the other five millions on the 6th Pluvioſe, which correſponds with the 25th January, in the ſame year. Theſe payments ſhall be made at Capua, and the ducat ſhall be received as four livres of France.

9. The uſual commercial relation between Naples and the territory occupyed by the French army, ſhall continue as heretofore, with the reſerve that the proviſioning of the French army ſhall not ſuffer at all thereby. It is alſo agreed upon, that the reciprocity of the commerce of the French army, with the territory occupied by the Neapolitans, ſhall take place, with exemption from all duties.

10. The preſent Treaty of Armiſtice ſhall be ſubmitted to the approbation of the governments of the two powers. If either refuſe to ratify it, the generals commanding ſhall give notice three days before the re-commencement of hoſtilities.

Year of the French Republic.
(Signed) CHAMPIONNET.
The Prince de Miliano.
The Duke de Geſſo.

CHAMPIONNET, Commander in chief of the army of Naples, to all the inhabitants of the ci-devant kingdom of Naples.

"You are at length free; your liberty is the only price which France deſires to obtain for her exertions, and the only clauſe of the treaty of peace which the army of the Republic comes to ratify by a ſolemn oath with you within the walls of your capital, and on the ſubverted throne of your laſt King. Miſery be to the wretch who ſhall refuſe to ſign with us this honorable compact, in which the fruit of victory is given to the vanquiſhed, and which only leaves to the conqueror the glory of having conſolidated your happineſs. He ſhall be treated as a public enemy, againſt whom we remain in arms. If there are ſtill among you hearts that are ſo ungrateful as to reject that liberty which we have gained for you at the expenſe of our blood, or men ſo inſane as to regret a king deprived of the right of commanding them in conſequence of his violating the oath which he had ſworn to defend them; let them fly for protection to ſtandards, which are diſgraced by perjury! War ſhall be proſecuted againſt them to extermination. Republicans, the cauſe under which you have ſo generouſly ſuffered, is ultimately victorious.

What the brilliant victories of the army of Italy had not been able to accompliſh, has been happily effected by the blindneſs of your laſt king. Let him then blame his own mad pride, and his audacious aggreſſion, for the happineſs of your fate, and the diſgrace which he has experienced! But let him be juſtly puniſhed for having attacked, againſt the faith of oaths, a nation in alliance with him, and for having attempted to deprive a neighbouring nation of their liberty! Let him be puniſhed by the loſs of a crown which he has diſhonoured, and by the chagrin of having been the principal inſtrument in making you free; Let no apprehenſions embitter the ſentiment of a happineſs ſo unexpected! The army which I command remains in the midſt of you for your defence. It will loſe its laſt man, it will ſhed its laſt drop of blood before it will allow your laſt tyrant to entertain even the hope of renewing the proscriptions of your families, and of opening again the dungeons in which he has caused them so long to pine. Neapolitans, if the French army assume now the title of the army of Naples, it is in consequence of the solemn engagement into which it has entered, to die for your cause, and to make no other use of its arms than to maintain your independence, and to preserve your rights, which it has vindicated. Let the people therefore, be assured of the full enjoyment of their religion, and cease to be alarmed with respect to the rights of property! The force of interests has maintained the tyrants in great exertions which they have made to calumniate in the eyes of the world, the integrity, and good faith of the French nation; but to a nation so generous, a few days are sufficient to divest credulous men of the odious prejudices to which tyranny has recourse to incite them to deplorable excesses.

The organization of plunder and assassination projected by your last king, and executed by his corrupt agents, as a means of defence, has produced the most dreadful and horrible consequences; but in removing the cause of the evil, it will be easy to check the effects, and to repair even the fatal mischiefs which it has produced. Let the republican authorities which are about to be established restore order and tranquility on the basis of paternal administration; let them dissipate the idle charms of ignorance, and appease the fury of fanaticism with a zeal equal to that which has been employed by perfidy to increase them; in a short time the severity of discipline, which re-establishes with so much faculty order among the troops of a free people, will not delay to put a period to the disorders produced by hatred, and which have been with difficulty repressed."

(Signed) "CHAMPIONNET."

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

THE KING vs VINT AND OTHERS.

This was an information filed ex-officio, by his majesty's attorney general, at the instance of his excellency the Russian ambassador, against the proprietor, printer, and publisher of the evening paper called The Courier, for a libel, which appeared in November last, tending to villify and bring into reproach the character of his imperial majesty the Emperor of Russia, and to excuse and promote a war between this country and Russia.

The libel was in form of a paragraph, and was copied from a country paper. It stated among other things, that the Emperor of Russia had rendered himself obnoxious to his subjects by various acts of tyranny, and by his inconsistency had made himself ridiculous in the eyes of Europe.

The Attorney General felt it his duty to call the serious attention of the jury to the libel in question, which he had brought before them, by command of the ambassador of a great and illustrious monarch, whose political character had been impudently and wickedly calumniated. It became the justice and dignity of this country to vindicate his imperial majesty against these defamatory aspersions by a public prosecution. It was evidently the design of the authors of this and other libels of a similar complexion to dissolve the political relations at present subsisting between this kingdom and other countries, and to stir them up to enmity, and to provoke a spirit of hostility against each other. The attorney general then noticed the various political paragraphs which occupied the columns of some diurnal prints, and which appeared to him to be fabricated with the malicious and seditious design to libel all the monarchs in Europe, for no other reason than because they were kings and emperors. He made a variety of other remarks, and concluded by referring the libellous paragraph to the jury, for them to decide whether it was, or was not, a wicked, malicious, and seditious libel.

The fact of the publication of the libel was then proved.

Mr. Erskine addressed the jury, as counsel for the defendant, in a very able speech.

The Attorney General replied.

Lord Kenyon was clearly of opinion that this paragraph was a gross and abominable libel on a very great and illustrious monarch, whose honor and character it was highly incumbent on this country to vindicate against the charges contained in this libel.

The jury withdrew for about three quarters of an hour, and on their return pronounced the defendants—Guilty.

Agreeable to an act of Parliament passed the 24th, Geo. II. ann. 1751, the year of our Lord, 1800 will not be reckoned a Bissextile or Leap Year, but will be computed a common year, consisting of 365 days and no more: and that in consequence thereof, the month of February next to come will consist of 28 days only, making thereby a difference of 12 days between the old and new stiles; which difference of the 2 stiles will continue the same throughout the whole of the 19th century, in order that the vernal or spring equinox may be fixed, on or near the 21st day of March yearly, as it happened at the time of the General Council of Nice, ann. 325.

The Brest squadron consists of eighteen sail of the line, but is prevented from sailing, from the want of seamen.

His Prussian majesty is said to have been much exasperated by the surrender of Ehrenbreitstein; and it is reported, a request has been made for 48,000 Russian troops to pass through his territory to the attack of Holland This makes the whole number of Russian troops marching against France amount to 113,000. If these facts be true, we may see a very formidable coalition against the Republic, and a war the most terrible, in its immediate effects, of any yet witnessed in the world.

Last week, one of the long chain of hills, called Hambleton Hills, in the North Riding of Yorkshire, fell in the plain below and spread over a very considerable quantity of ground. Falling in the night, it did no personal injury. It was called Brockell Scar, situated near the village of Kirby-Knowle, and contained on the surface about three quarters of an acre of ground, with much wood growing on it. Probably the weight of the thawed snow, sittering through the fissures of the earth, may have loosened this hill from that to which it was joined, and occasioned its fall.

PARIS, February 28.

Victor Hughes has arrived at Ferrol from whence he will not be long of being brought to France.

General Mack arrived at Milan on the 15th of February. He is lodged at the tavern, formerly the imperial. Two soldiers are in his chamber, eight in his anti-Chamber and fourteen are in the passages leading to his apartment.

A great conspiracy in favour of Austria has just been discovered in Milan, which was managed with great secrecy. Several persons have been arrested.

A ship which arrived in five days at Trieste from Ragusa, brings advice that on the 4th Pluviose there entered the canal of Calamota nine ships of war, of which four were of 74 guns, two Turkish and two Russian. The commanders of these ships were complimented by a deputation from the senate of Ragusa. After receiving provisions, these vessels set sail to block up Ancona.

If we may believe a captain of a ship from Sicily, in twenty days, two French frigates, which escaped from Alexandria, entered the port of Messina, without knowing of the declaration of war by Naples against France. They have been seized and their crews imprisoned.

The British have landed in Malta some Neapolitan troops, who, assisted by the inhabitants, have made several attacks on the fort and the town. The British block up the port as much as the winds will permit. They have thrown several bombs, some of which have fallen in the port; but the French are still masters of all the principal fortresses.

Preparations for war are making in Portugal. Barracks are constructing to receive the British troops expected in the spring. The government has resolved to put arms in the hands of every one able to bear them, and the regular troops will be sent to the frontiers of Spain to be encamped.

Scherer, minister of war, is appointed commander in chief of the armies of Italy and Naples. General Macdonald will preserve the command of the army of Naples under Scherer. General Millet-Murreau, brigade general at the artillery, is appointed minister of war.

The Algerine envoy has been imprisoned in the Temple, to answer for the attrocities that may be committed against the French in Algiers.

HAS JUST PUBLISHED (PRICE 1 DOL. 50 CENTS)
By WILLIAM GIFFORD, ESQUIRE.
To which is prefixed,
A POETICAL EPISTLE TO THE AUTHOR
By an American Gentleman.
[In introducing this celebrated work to the Gentlemen and Ladies of America, I have endeavored to give it a dress proportioned to its distinguished merit, and to the taste of those for whose amusement and delight it is intended. No expence has been spared in the publication; and I flatter myself that the work does not yield, either in paper or print, to any one ever published in America.——This edition has an advantage over some former ones, as it contains by way of notes, the minor productions of the author; and, it has an advantage over every other edition, in the Poetical Epistle which is prefixed to it, and which must be extremely gratifying to every lover of literature in this country, as it is a proof that there are Americans who have the taste to admire, the justice to applaud, and the talents to rival the Geniuses of other nations
☞ Some Copies have been sent on to Mr. Somerville, Maiden Lane, New York, also to Mr. Hill, Baltimore, and to Mrs Young, Charleston.
Copies will be sent to Boston and other places, as soon as occasions offer.]

BOSTON, May 24.

The renewal of war on the European continent, whatever may be its termination, is a fact, which through some have effected to doubt, is now fully established. The charge d'affairs of the French Republic to the German Diet, has been compelled to return to France; and his Imperial Majesty, has published a manifesto, in which he charges the French with perfidy and aggression, justifies himself to the world, and calls upon the States of the Empire to unite with him in measures of mutual security.

There is no doubt, from a variety of intelligence, that the Turks, the Russians, the Germans and the English will combine in one great effort to restore the kingdom of Naples to its sovereign.

Capt. SAMUEL NICHOLSON, of the Constitution frigate, is appointed to command a 74 gun ship—which is to be immediately commenced in this town, and to be built with all speed.

We understood, that St. Andrews Lodge, of this town, subscribed 3000 dollars to be found for building ships of war for Government.

HARTFORD, (Con.) May 27.

The proclamation published by general Duhesme, on his entering the Abruzzoes, combines in a striking manner the traits of false liberty, perfidy and hypocrisy which have marked all the productions issued by the agents of the Directory during the war. It is peculiarly remarkable for containing a most unequivocal and formal declaration of war against all existing governments whatever, and this declaration is announced in the following language.

"The king of Naples in violating the most sacred treaties, has dared to rouse the slumbering Lion. God who judges kings, has had pity on our miseries. He imagined he could resist the Great Nation, and change the order of the Supreme Arbiter of Empires who has chosen the French people to renew the surface of the Globe, disfigured by the crimes of governments, and to establish upon it the reign of that Liberty and Equality to which he has destined men."

NEW-YORK, May 27.

The Ticket, No. 14,374, this morning drew the highest prize in the New York State Road Lottery, 10,000 Dollars. The fortunate possessors of this Ticket, are a company of five gentlemen, who purchased the unsold Tickets, at the time the Lottery commenced drawing.

COMMUNICATION.

A small Daily Paper has lately been started in Baltimore, under the title of "The American and Daily Advertiser," by a Mr. Martin, in connection with Mr. James Carey, late of Philadelphia. Its politics are those of the Argus and Aurora. Finding after a few days trial, that it was not likely to get much of advertising custom of the federal city of Baltimore, they at length very modestly inform the citizens that one of them, or a person employed for that purpose will canvass the city and beg their support! It is to be hoped that even this unmanly and degrading conduct will not insure the success of a paper professedly inimical to the government. Those printers must have formed an erroneous opinion of the citizens of Baltimore, or they would at least concealed their real sentiments; for it is very evident that the generosity of the Merchantile part of Baltimore, as well as New-York, would not withhold their patronage from men who came forward even with the profession of being OPEN TO ALL PARTIES, but INFLUENCED by NONE, though the motto in itself is ridiculous in the extreme, as it is never adhered to.

REJOICING.

"At Herkemer on the arrival of the Mail, on the 15th instant, disclosing the event of the election in the city of New-York, a cannon was instantly discharged—a large body of Citizens assembled, whose countenances bespoke uncommon joy at the success of federalism. The following extemporaneous toasts were drank, accompanied with the discharge of cannon, and rapturous huzzas:

1st. The Federal Government—May its strength progress till the consummation of all things. 3 cheers.

2d. John Adams—The rock of our political salvation. 3 cheers,

3d. George Washington—Second to no man on earth.

4th. The Governor and Lt. Governor of New-York—invulnerable by the poisoned arrows of expiring Jacobins. 3 cheers.

5th. Alexander Hamilton—his pen to direct, his sword to defend. 3 cheers.

6th. The City of New-York—Federal—914 majority. 9 cheers.

7th. Glorious prospects from the South—Federal sm triumphant. 3 cheers.

8th. The disorganizing L——faction—
A Jacobin tribe,
Mortified pride,
Their Sun o'ercast,
Their influence past. 9 cheers.

9th. Aron Burr—do. do. do do.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Cooperstown, to the Editer of this paper.

"By information from Tioga, it appears that the democrat, Matthew Carpenter, has missed an election, and that Doct. Joseph Hinchman, a firm and decided federal character, is chosen Member of Assembly in his stead. Mr. King of Chenango is re-elected."

Extract of a letter from a gentleman at Malaga.

"The person who fought so bravely with the French privateers is our friend Captain GAMALIEL BRADFORD.—He was attacked by four privateers (two of which were of superior force) about 7 leagues from Malaga; after many exchanges of shot, one of them threw himself along side of Bradford's ship and attempted to board, when he received a discharge which killed and wounded fifteen; this intimidated the rest, and he kept up a continual firing with them until they all reached the harbor. It is said the Frenchman threw over five dead bodies before he came to an anchor. The above is the number which were put on shore at the Mole of Malaga, out of which seven were dead, and the rest in a fair way. The captain of the privateer lost one leg. Bradford, it is said, came beating Yankee Doodle; he mounted only ten four pounders and had 25 men."

The brig Rose, capt. John Meany, lately arrived at New Castle, 57 days from the isle of Lobus, near the Faulkland Islands, and sometime before from the river La Plata; left at the latter place the ship Liberty, Miller, and the brig ——, capt. Cronin, of this city, and the ship Diana, Bunker, of Baltimore. All foreign vessels were ordered out of the several ports by the Viceroy in 30 days.

Capt. Meany informs, that no such ship has sailed from the river Plata as was mentioned in the papers a few days ago to have been engaged by a French privateer in the Gulph Stream; nor has there been any vessel named Mary-Ann, under American colors, in that river during the war. He adds, that he saw a privateer brig in lat. 25 north, long. 49, west, which chased him eight hours, and fired several times at him. This privateer the captain believes to be in the track of our homeward bound East Indiamen.

ANECDOTE.

Millar, a bookseller, and the printer of Johnson's Dictionary, on receiving from the Doctor the last copy sheet, sent him the following letter, more expressive of his joy, than his politeness

"Andrew Millar sends his compliments to Mr. Samuel Johnson, with the money for the last sheet of copy of the Dictionary, and thanks God he has done with him."

To which Johnson returned this good humoured and brief answer:

Samuel Johnson returns his compliments to Mr. Andrew Millar, and is very glad to find, as he does by his note, that Andrew Millar, has the grace to thank God for any thing."

Capt. F. found the commander of the privateer to be an old acquaintance, who told him he would not take his vessel unless compelled to do so by his crew; and gave Capt. F. directions to conceal whatever English goods he might have on board, and the next morning he would send ten men to search; and further assured him, that if we was obliged to make prize of him, the vessel should be returned.

Renaud told capt F. that he had taken 16 English vessels within a short time. After having satisfied the crew of the privateer that capt. F. had no contraband goods on board he was suffered to proceed on his voyage.

TERMS

Of Richard Folwell, in Philadelphia,

FOR SUBSCRIBING TO THE

JOURNALS OF CONGRESS,

FROM THE COMMENCEMENT

Of the American War, in 1774; to the present time,

INCLUDING

The Reports of Heads of Departments, of Committees, and other Official and Private Papers of that Body, now first permitted to be made public.

TERMS.

THE work will be printed on a fine paper, and a new neat type, in large octavo.

Each volume will contain above 500 pages, neatly bound and lettered.

Uniformity in size, paper, and binding, will be observed throughout the work; so that, while the subscribers become possessed of a valuable record, an ornament may be added to their libraries.

The price to subscribers will be 2 dolls. 75 cts. per volume, in boards, and 3 dolls. whole bound; but, as the publisher does not intend to print many more than the number subscribed for, a considerable rise on the price may be expected to non-subscribers.

Each volume will contain about one third less of letter-press than the original edition; but, as the publisher is not yet enabled to determine the extent of the Private Journals, which he may be allowed to make public, he cannot ascertain the number of volumes which will comprise the work.

☞ Payments to be made on delivery of each volume.

Subscribers will have it at their option, either to subscribe for the whole of the Journals, up to the present time, or to those only of the Old Congress prior to the organization of the Federal Government.

IN all countries, the proceedings in the commencement of their governments, are lost in darkness and obscurity, owing to a carelessness, in the succeeding generation, to preserve the public records, and the attention of the nation, in those rude ages, being called off from their domestic concerns, to engage in wars and conquest. Of what infinite value would the laws of Alfred be, had they been transmitted to our days? Time, that destroys every thing, enhances the value of well authenticated public records, and renders them almost inestimable. It is hoped, that Americans will, therefore, chearfully contribute their assistance in transmitting to posterity the labours of their ancestors—founders of the Columbian nation.

 The work will certainly be advanced with expedition and promptitude. The following will show the support it has already acquired:

"Philadelphia, June 15, 1798.

"To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States.

"The MEMORIAL of the Subscribers, Citizens, &c. of Philadelphia,

"Respectfully sheweth,

"That having, in our respective avocations, frequent occasions to recur to the Journals of Congress, we experience inconvenience by the scarcity of them: That we understand that Richard Folwell, printer, of Philadelphia, has had it in contemplation to print that public record; and that he hath obtained partial countenance from many individuals; but that he has delayed prosecuting the work, in expectation of encouragement from government, that may adequately indemnify him. We, therefore, respectfully solicit, as the publication is necessary to be disseminated among public bodies, that Congress will, in their wisdom, render him such additional encouragement, to that which he has obtained from private individuals, as to enable him to proceed with the work, so that your Memorialists may be enabled to purchase copies of that record for themselves.

G. SHAW,

Respectfully informs the public, he has received from

ROBERT JOHNSTON,

Apothecary, No. 20, Green street, Soho, London, a fresh and very considerable supply of his highly esteemed Medicine.

AWARE of the depredations made on every public medicine of established repute and extensive sale, R. Johnston, obtained the King of England's Patent for his invention, not "to recommend" but "to distinguish," Whitehead's Essence of Mustard from

SPURIOUS IMITATIONS.

"Five years have now elapsed since Mr. Johnston first made known to the world this very extraordinary medicine; during this short period, its efficacy has been so clearly demonstrated that its sale has far exceeded any former example; comparitively there are few families in England or the United States which have not either heard of or experienced its beneficial effects and with heartfelt satisfaction he had the happiness to declare Whitehead's Essence of Mustard has cured more persons afflicted with Rheumatisms, Gout, Lumbago, Palsy, Complaints of the Stomach and other Painful Maladies.

Than all the Medicines ever before made public, indeed, the instances, of its efficacy and letters of acknowledgment from "the most respectable characters" are so numerous that a large volume could not possibly contain them, it has also obtained the approbation of the most eminent men of the faculty and is honoured by the use and recommendation of the first families in England, Ireland and America.

A COUNTERFEIT.

R. JOHNSTON has reason to believe a large quantity under the name of "Improved Essence of Mustard," as well as many others has been shipped for America, and considers it his duty to prevent imposition and disappointment.

He therefore requests the afflicted to be particular in the purchase of his bottles, boxes, labels, and bill of directions which are closely copied, and words "by royal authority," artfully substituted for the words "by the king's patent" which may elude common observation.

The Genuine is distinguished by the signature of R. Johnston, in his own hand writing on each label, and as an additional security is further signed on the outside wrapper by his only agent for the United States, G. SHAW, No. 129 Chesnut street, Philadelphia, by whom it is sold wholesale and retail, in pills and in a fluid state at one dollar each, box or bottle

FOR CHILBLAINS, SPRAINS AND BRUISES,

It is a certain and effectual remedy, seldom requiring more than three or four applications.

To the candid and liberal of the FACULTY, R. Johnston respectfully submits the following observations. The Fluid Essence of Mustard, is an embrocation worthy their particular attention, it differs in its nature from all others, and is out of the beaten tract of general practice—It is an active stimulant, easily controuled, may be either increased or diminished in its strength by the different methods of use, it is both elegant and convenient and is frequently found in the extemporaneous prescriptions of their brethren in England.

The above Genuine Medicine, as well as many others of the first celebrity may be had by appointment of G. Shaw, of Mr. G. Bailey, Wilmington, Dr. Barrill, Maiden Lane, New-York, Messrs. Bailey and Walker, Charleston, William Black, Salem, (N. J.) Charles Hunteb, Lancaster, A. C. Jorden, Norfolk, John Roberts, do. David Keen, Sweet Springs, Virginia, R. Lee, Baltimore, I. & J. Mantz, Fredericktown, Maryland, G. W. Mancios, Albany, Dr. Vanslingen, New-York, Messrs. Titford & Son, do. Messrs. Ross & Douglas, Pittsburg, John Webster, Wilmington, James Wilson, do. Richard Winter & Co. Savannah, and in every principal town in the United States.

N.B. The public are desired to enquire for Whitehead's Essence of Mustard, all others being a base and spurious imitation.

GEO. SHAW.

120, Chesnut-street, where Venders may be supplied.

"Caution against Counterfeits."

Agents are appointed by G. Shaw in every principal town of the United States, and there is no certainty of purchasing the Genuine Essence of Mustard in any part of America, unless it is signed on the outside wrapper by G. Shaw, No. 129, Chesnut street, Philadelphia, where shopkeepers are supplied and a liberal discount allowed them.
